

Dear Public,

What's my place? I'm sure this is a common question but a very legitimate one. Sometimes I see my boyfriend as my only friend, sometimes my mom, sometimes a lot of people. I don't know if I have jumped in too deep when it comes to this gay thing. I want to be President - of the USA, not sears or anything. 😊 I now want to be the first openly gay president with the first first-gay-gentlemen. Can it happen? Is it supposed to happen?

I'm a Republican. Yes, a gay-Republican. Does that make sense? Yes, until you ask these neo-conservatives like Rush & George W. I sometimes feel alone in my party. I'm a conservative, not a moderate or a liberal or even a reactionary. I'm a true conservative, but no one understands that. I see myself and my views as legitimate and sensible while others are blinded by the stereotypes, however false they are, of these classifications.

I'm not sure how people see me or if they understand me. Should that change me? It won't. I'm confused yet happy. That's what matters, right?
